

RAW in WAR Scholarship in human rights journalism to honour Natalia Estemirova

RAW in WAR is announcing the establishment of a scholarship, named after Natalia Estemirova, the first recipient of the Anna Politkovskaya Award, who was killed in July. The scholarship, will commemorate Natalia and honour her life, and will be awarded annually to a woman from war and conflict in the world to study human rights journalism in London. The scholarship in the name of Natalia Estemirova will be set up in cooperation with a top London University. The Guardian newspaper has offered an internship placement for the recipient.
